Actions to stop doing

As a team, there are no activities or actions that we feel like we should stop doing. We are currently satisfied with our process, except for minor issues such as being late to or absent from scheduled group meetings.

Actions to start doing

As a team, we feel we should work on our version control enforcement.

Actions to keep doing

As a team, we feel like we should continue holding our SCRUM meetings at the same times and days. We also feel we should continue to meet up for less formal group work sessions when we are all available.
